

Response from Scott Elliott

I will start looking for transportation to the Back Porch. Overall I thought the season was a little short I think more racing less repairing is in order. It could just be a docking procedure that needs fixed. This year I will be happy just to put both feet on a boat deck somewhere. The committee boat is or will be fine after the motor is repaired. The duties are not that hard. I think the people who haven't set up a race yet should get first option in 08 then start down last years list again. The number of races is about right. Maybe we could front load the schedule to allow for a summer siesta when the wind gods take their vacation. It might be fun to put in one or two races to the causeway if the winds would allow. New events ? Co-ed naked sailing sounds like fun til some one gets their wench wet, then there is _____ to pay. Fair Winds , Scott